SCHOOL GUIDE / REFERENCE

Sources and guide notes

Board results and directory information checked November 4, 2026. For a placement decision, ask the board or school to confirm the current result.

How distances are measured

- Distances are approximate straight-line kilometres from the City of Toronto civic address point for 114 Haddington Avenue (43.735034, -79.420835) to a published campus or address point. Inclusion uses the unrounded distance, up to and including 5.000 km. Entrances, walking distances and travel times differ.

School and campus coverage

- Public coverage: physical elementary and secondary day schools in the four local boards, plus Bloorview School Authority. The directory includes alternative, specialized and special-education schools. Adult, continuing, remote, summer, custody and treatment-only programs are excluded. The provincial public roster (updated October 2026) was cross-checked with board directories and municipal locations.
- Private coverage: Ontario's October 2026 private school contact directory and 2025–26 school locations were checked against municipal address points and available school websites. Separate campuses are listed separately; school divisions sharing a single school profile and campus are combined. Different schools at one address may have separate entries.
- Private admissions and grade offerings come from the operator or directory; where only a school level is available, exact grades are marked unconfirmed. Phone links use the published school contact. Preschool-only, summer-only, fully online and unconfirmed physical classrooms are excluded.

Using the guide

- Regular school attendance, program eligibility and capacity are different questions. School boundaries, locations, admission requirements and available places may change. Contact the school or board before making an enrolment decision.
- Links are interactive in the PDF. For a paper copy, scan the cover code to open the same school entries and contact links.
- Contains information licensed under the Open Government Licence – Ontario and the Open Government Licence – Toronto.
